etc.venues is the UK's leading independent provider of dedicated meeting, training and conference space. The company was established by trainers 16 years ago using their expert knowledge of what makes the perfect venue. The company remains committed to leading the way when it comes to providing award-winning space combining flexible, innovative rooms with state-of-the-art facilities.

The venues are designed purely for business events (so the rooms are not compromised by being used for other functions or banquets, weddings etc). The result is a totally dedicated business environment designed for the needs of training and event organisers including:-

- Natural daylight in every main meeting and training room
- Un-interrupted sightlines and high ceilings to ensure perfect presentation to all parts of the room
- Specialist, ergonomic furniture designed for training and meeting use
- High quality, built in AV equipment, including large screens, ceiling mounted projectors and broadband WiFi throughout
- Specialist in-house chefs preparing healthy 'brain-fuel' designed for maximum performance and concentration.
- Specialist staff that are geared up to support the needs of event organisers - ensuring that everything runs smoothly
- State of the art coffee machines that provide high quality drinks to delegates throughout the day
- Inspiring break-out areas and restaurants filled with contemporary art and modern design to relax and inspire delegates

The formula is simple - perfect training rooms that are 'designed for purpose' supported by inspiring communal areas. This simplicity is also reflected in the pricing structure where absolutely everything is included in an easy to understand day delegate rate (right through to limitless drinks throughout the day) making the whole buying, event management and budgeting process very transparent and uncomplicated.

The seven strong portfolio (6 in London and 1 in Birmingham) comprises over 140 dedicated training/meeting rooms in a range of sizes that can hold from 2 to 300 delegates. As a specialist city-based venue provider the group's properties are also easily accessible with close links to a range of public transport.
